From dining tables, to lighting and fabrics, here is a selection of the latest product launches from the world of residential design

by Elinor Stephens

Arteriors

The Mahoun dining table by Arteriors is crafted from oak and finished in a deep umber veneer. The pillar design is inspired by the Modernist aesthetic of Constantin Brâncuși, featuring stacked geometrics and craftsman-style turned detailing. It also features a radial pattern on the tabletop for a bold statement. arteriorshome.com

Simon Orrell Designs

Simon Orrell Designs' new collection comprises lamps in a range of distinctive materials, including straw marquetry. The striking design evokes Art Deco glamour with a contemporary spin. Split and pressed, dyed strips of straw are applied to the base surface to create intricate patterns. Choose from natural, ebony or gold. simonorrelldesigns.com

Fromental

The Bargello and Fiamma designs are inspired by traditional flame stitch embroidery, where the precise counting of squares is combined with shades of colour to create an ornate pattern. Both have been commissioned by Eric Egan Studio in Milan and Salvesen Graham in London for the Christie's January Interiors sale. Printed on cartridge paper, they are available on a 10m roll. fromental.co.uk

Rubelli

The new Dominique Kiefer by Rubelli collection of fabrics comprises natural yarns including linen, wool, hemp and cotton. The eco-friendly breathable materials come in a range of variations and shades, such as the Tissu d'elegance in Lait. The special finish it undergoes during dyeing allows the fibres to take on elasticity and shine, creating a 3D chiaroscuro effect. rubelli.com
