

HOME

Is your house earning more than you? p8

'SOMEBODY MAY NOT LIKE ME, BUT THEY'LL LIKE THIS HOUSE'

Take an exclusive tour of Michael Flatley's £15m mansion p38

JUST BREATHE

The best places to live to enjoy the cleanest air | p12

PLUS My Bodacast property reporter

OUT-OF-CONTROL, ALT, DELETE

The backlash against supersmart homes begins here | p18

LAB REPORT

What your dog says about your kitchen | p24

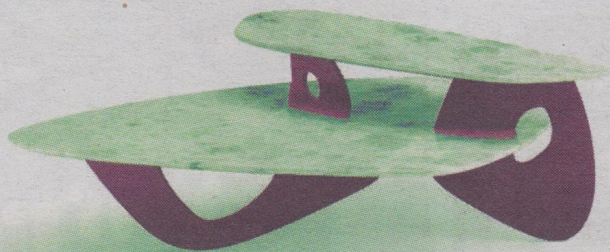

PLUS Spruce up your home for under £1,000

The best pieces at the autumn design fairs would grace a museum as well as your home. By Katrina Burroughs

Art class

The Milan-born, London-based interior designer Lorenzo Cereda has just launched his first range of Memphis-inspired limited-edition furniture. It is handmade in Italy, in Carrara marble, polished stainless steel, wood, MDF and car paint. From about £1,500 for a coffee table; lorenzocereda.com

▲ The Tama table is an artwork in bronze and marble. It's also a handy resting place for cups of tea, books and plants. From £6,160; forza.co.uk

◀ Inspired by the historic craft of straw marquetry, the latest pieces from Simon Orrell Designs include the Avila cabinet. £8,250; simonorrell.com

Best known for his inventive tabletop range, Bodo Sperlein has also designed this serpentine Contour table. The chair in the picture is a prototype. From £12,000; bodosperlein.com

